

Thursday, April
23rd, 6:30 pm

Celebrate Spring and Earth Week by attending a screening of the film Growing Cities.

The film chronicles a road trip around the country to sites of the burgeoning urban farming movement in our cities.

The film will be introduced by filmmaker Andrew Monbouquette. A panel of local, urban farmers will join Andrew in a discussion following the film.

Panelists include:

- Doug Eldon, Manager of the Calvin Presbyterian Church Community Garden
- Toni Kessler, Teacher for the Community Services Consortium Youth Garden
- Al Shay, Site Manager for the Oak Creek Center for Urban Horticulture.

See the film website for more information: www.growingcitiesmovie.com

WHAT: Growing Cities film showing and Panel Discussion

WHEN: Thursday, April 23rd

Doors open- 6 pm

Film- 6:30 pm

Panel discussion- 7:30 pm

WHERE: Linus Pauling Science Center, Room 125, Oregon State University

Parking is available adjacent to center

Link to Campus Map: <http://oregonstate.edu/campusmap/>

ADMISSION: FREE!

Sponsored by Slow Food Corvallis, Food in Culture and Social Justice Program (OSU School of Language, Culture & Society), and the OSU Student Sustainability Initiative.

Farmers' Markets Open this Week!

Don't forget the Saturday Farmers' Market opens April 18th in both Albany and Corvallis!

The Wednesday farmers' market starts April 22nd in Corvallis.

Hope to see you all there!

For more information, please see

<http://locallygrown.org/home/>

